

CANDIDATE DAYTON HURT IN CAB CRASH

With Justice Dowling He Was Pinned in Vehicle Behind
Runaway Horse.

Deserted and imprisoned in their cab by the driver, who was arguing with a truckman, Supreme Court Justice Victor J. Dowling and ex-Postmaster Charles W. Dayton, who is a candidate on the Tammany and Independence League tickets for the Supreme Court bench, narrowly escaped fatal injury last evening when the pole of a heavy truck smashed into the vehicle in which they rode and wrecked it.

John Oakley, of No. 41 East Nineteenth street, was the driver. The cab was being driven up Lafayette street, when it became jammed with many other vehicles, and stopped. About this time Oakley and another driver began to quarrel, and Oakley got down from his box, and is said to have started toward the other disputant. Then it was the truck pole crashed into the rear of the cab and the horse ran away.

The occupants did not know the driver. Gov. Magoon has accepted the resignation of Justice Dowling. Under Secretary of State, and has appointed in his stead Manuel Sobrado, a former member of Congress and an Independent.

receiving no answer, tried to open door. They could not, and the fact that they were prisoners in a runaway cab dawned upon them.

The horse rushed on until fourth avenue was reached, where it ran into a dray and overturned the cab, towing the Justice and candidate out through the front glass.

Justice Dowling was not hurt, but Dayton was cut about the hands and one of his legs was badly cut and lacerated. Sergeant Henry, of the Telephone Bureau at Headquarters, saw the accident and followed it. He caught the horse soon after it ran into the dray. After resting in a drug store for a while, Mr. Dayton's wounds treated, the two men went in another cab to Mr. Dayton's home, No. 13 West Morris Park West.

NEW MILK TRUST BENEFICIAL COMBINE

Farmers' Company Pledges Its Efforts to Keep Price at Present Rate.

The New York Dairy Company, known as the new milk trust, and said to be backed by an association of ten thousand farmers, is to be a benevolent monopoly. The company is said to have agreed not to sell milk for more than eight cents a quart, the present price.

Walter M. Hodge, who resides at the Waldorf-Astoria, and James J. Bennett, of No. 29 Broadway, are in charge of the new institution. The former is the financier and the latter is said to represent the farmers.

Mr. Bennett is counsel for the Five States Milk Producers' Association, which has a membership of 10,000, and whose members practically supply this city with milk.

In the plans of this benevolent trust other milk trusts less tender in their affection for the dear people are to be fought. It is also stated that a price less than eight cents a quart may be made to the poor of New York.

The milk trust is organized under the laws of New Jersey and has a capital of $1,000,000.

Economy is the aim of the promoters.

They say they will save a quarter of a cent a quart on transportation, a greater saving will be effected by doing away with the duplication of routes. As it is now two or more milk wagons often serve in the same territory. The trust will organize the distribution of milk so that all this waste will be done away with.
